

Redundancy payments

A bit of news from the Budget today. The maximum figure of a week's pay for the purposes of calculating the statutory redundancy payment will increase from £350 to £380.

What has not been mentioned is whether that will mean that the maximum for an unfair dismissal basic award will also increase.

We will have to wait and see what comes out of the Statutory Instrument when it is drafted and also as to when the change comes into effect.
